Invitation

The International Scientific Committee and the Organising Chairs 2019 invite you again to another (16th) «St. Gallen International Breast Cancer Conference» in Vienna/Austria. Experts of virtually all major breast cancer cooperative groups and centers world-wide, actively engaged in basic and clinical research as well as in clinical management of patients with breast cancer, will again present their latest data, critically reviewed by leading specialists in the field. The conference closes as usual with an update of the widely acknowledged «St. Gallen International Consensus on the optimal Primary Treatment of Women with Early Breast Cancer».
